Jonathan Swift was an Anglo-Irish satirist, author, essayist, political pamphleteer, poet, and Anglican cleric who became Dean of St Patrick's Cathedral in Dublin. He is best known for works from the early 1700s such as A Tale of a Tub, An Argument Against Abolishing Christianity, A Modest Proposal, and of course Gulliver's Travels.

On the reverse of the note, there is a 1756 Dublin street map by John Rocque. Rocque was a French-born British surveyor and cartographer.
